Invest in Clean, Renewable Electric Power through GCEA's Green Power Program!

Through a partnership with Tri-State Generation and Transmission, GCEA members are able to contribute, at an additional cost, towards energy that is produced by sources of renewable generation. Tri-State currently purchases wind power from Platte River Power Authority's Wind Farm located near Medicine Bow, Wyoming, and from Basin Electric's Prairie Winds Program. Additional wind power and other renewable resources such as small hydropower, biomass, and solar energy are purchased on the open market by Tri-State through a system of "green tags" or "green certificates."

You can be part of the Green Power Program for as little as an additional $0.25 per month—the amount it costs to purchase one block of green power. One block of green power equals 100 kilo-watts. An average homeowner using 700 kilo-watts per month would need to purchase seven blocks for $1.75 per month to offset 100% of their electrical usage with green power.

Each month, GCEA's members purchase approximately 3,050 blocks and GCEA purchases 550 blocks, for a total of 360,000 kilo-watt hours of electricity. That's enough electricity to power nearly 310 average GCEA members' homes for the month.
